

Swiss Cottage- Bat Mitzvah

The Brief:

Set in a large soon to be refurbished house in Swiss Cottage, the client wanted to have different themed rooms for a Bat Mitzvah to remember. A 'boys' room, 'girls' room, film room, were specified, alongside a temporary structure in the back garden of the house with dance floor and dining area.

The Solution:

The entrance area to the house was lit in a bright pink. The boys room was lit in blue, with LED Starcloth lining the walls. The finishing touch was a plasma screen with racing arcade games. The girls room featured a constantly colour changing LED lit ceiling, with non-neon stars hung round the walls. To create the film room, IPS installed a ceiling mounted LCD Projector for DVD playback, and the room was lit in a gentle purple.

The marquee was lit with pastel colours, and break-up gobos provided textures on the floor and walls. Dance floor lighting was from coloured Par cans, and four trackspot moving mirror effects lights.

IPS also supplied Litedeck staging to level over the garden area, and cover over a sunken patio and pond.

The Outcome:

The client was delighted with the transformation of her house, and the success of the different themed rooms. She commented that she would be in touch again soon for the bar mitzvah of her other child.
